

What went well?

What should we keep doing?
What should we celebrate?
Where did we make progress?

What went poorly?

Where did we have problems?
What was frustrating to us or others?
What held us back?

The Health Hub Project NZ is a break from the traditional approach to community general practice.
It will develop and use both new and re-designed healthcare processes and systems - multidisciplinary care teams, professional collaboration internally and externally, and a culture of practice, overall, which is proactive and inclusive, respectful and supportive.
In the words of North American Health reformers, Porter and Lee (2013), the Health Hub Project will implement into practice a strategic new value agenda for healthcare practice

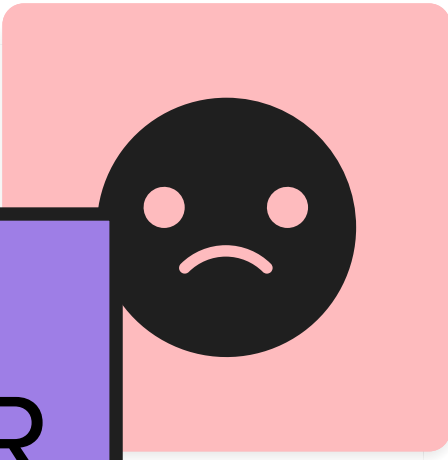

HUB. The Hub is all about how we work in teams and in community. Our health care professionals working in clinical and care teams are able do the following:

- Work with a wide range of health professionals and community workers;
- Wherever possible, run outreach clinics that allow us to bring health care near to where you live, and where you work; and
- Actively involve you, and the communities we work with, in how we deliver health care that works well for everyone.
